The death of Nathan Straus on Sunday in New York, two days before the completion of his 83rd year, is a great loss to this country. Mr. Straus set an example of wise philanthropy, devoting more than a quarter of a century of his active working years, and a substantial fortune, to his fight for pure milk throughout the United States. As an example to others he distributed pasteurized milk including milk properly modified for young infants in the poor districts of New York. His influence is felt in foreign countries as well as here. Because of his work pasteurization of milk and careful handling and bottling are now enforced by law, and, thanks to Mr. Straus, the death rate among infants in New York has been cut down 50 per cent.

Mr. Straus was one of three brothers, all distinguished for good citizenship and public spirit.

His brother Isador, whose heroic death on the Titanic will be long remembered, represented his state in congress, and was one of the three greatest merchants produced by the United States thus far. A monument in New York City was erected in his honor. Oscar Straus, the youngest brother, represented this country as ambassador to Turkey at Constantinople, and was in the cabinet of Theodore Roosevelt.

Nathan Straus literally saved the lives of millions of children. His memory will be enshrined in the hearts of mothers all over the world.

It is feared that Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieutenant William A. MacLaren have been lost on their flight to Europe via the Azores. Ships yesterday reported rough seas, high winds, no possibility of surviving a landing for more than a few minutes.

The practical certainty that two more fliers have gone into eternity makes you wonder how things are in the next world. Are the inhabitants segregated in groups for the compensation of years, the great conquerors here with their slaves in front, Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon; the great writers there, Homer, Dante, Shakespeare dominating; the great philosophers yonder, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle and perhaps Bacon, with groups around Archimedes, Michael Angelo, and Darwin, men without peers, or are they all scattered, Dante perhaps next to a Baptist from New Jersey, and Darwin beside a fundamentalist from Tennessee, all eternity on which to convert him?

How many of us feel that we deserve but lack the world's appreciation? Mr. A. Capone, known to his friends as "Scarface," because of an unfortunate early incident, has that feeling.

Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, granddaughter of the late Joseph Medill, an editor of the Washington Herald, tells you about it.

Being in Miami, where Mr. Capone maintains winter residence, and knowing that editors should seek information at the sources, she called on the distinguished Chicago citizen, who, says Mrs. Patterson, "stood by his gate, with six athletic, energetic looking young men, walking."

HOME CHILDREN TO GET LARGER ASSEMBLY HALL

Columbiana County Will Give $10,000 Toward Project

PLAN IS SPONSORED BY KIWANIS CLUBS

Stark Pays Three-Fifths Of Cost In Fairmount Plan

LISBON, Jan. 13.—Columbiana county commissioners have agreed to appropriate $10,000, or two-fifths, to the cost of the erection of an assembly hall at the Fairmount Children's Home, the balance to be paid by Stark county.

The proposition is being sponsored by the six Kiwanis clubs of the county, and all of the Kiwanis clubs in Stark county.

Owen Makes Appeal
Fred Owen of East Palestine, district Kiwanis governor, and a member of the board of trustees of the Fairmount home presented the assembly hall proposition to the county commissioners Monday afternoon. He was accompanied by representatives of Kiwanis clubs from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Lisbon, Salem, Leetonia and East Palestine.

Kiwanis club representatives in Stark county, with Stark county trustees of the Fairmount home, are to present the same proposal to the commissioners of Stark county. Under a law passed many years ago, giving Stark and Columbiana counties joint control of the Fairmount children's home, it is provided that Stark county pay three-fifths of the costs of the institution and Columbiana county the remainder.

Mr. Owen explained that approximately 200 children at the home are without proper recreation during inclement weather, and that the present small assembly quarters should be enlarged.

Resolution Adopted
"Columbiana county cannot go on record as being against such a worthy cause," Commissioner J. C. Kelley declared, and a resolution was immediately passed appropriating a fund of $10,000.

It has been explained, however,

YOUTH ROBBED OF CASH, AUTO BY 2 BANDITS

Edward Harris Held Up At Guns' Points In Benton Road

Edward A. Harris, 20, of Salem, last night was held up and robbed of $4.60 and his automobile, a roadster, by two armed bandits on the North Benton rd, inside of the city's corporation limits.

Ordered To "Put 'Em Up"
Driving on West State st into the driveway of a gasoline station, Harris started to turn his automobile around when the road was suddenly blocked by another car. Two men, both said by police to have been armed with revolvers, jumped on the running-board of Harris' machine, forcing him to "put 'em up."

Harris was ordered to leave his automobile by one of the bandits, the other running over to the car which was blocking the road. He returned with a bottle of whiskey, placed it in Harris' automobile and ordered the latter to drive out West State st in the bandits' machine.

The two followed closely and after driving out North Benton rd three miles, they ordered Harris to stop. He was searched, the duet taking $4.60 from him, returning 60 cents for "spending money," police said today.

Take Harris' Machine
Harris was then ordered to return to Salem in the bandits' car the latter driving on in the Salem youth's machine.

Harris notified police here immediately on his return to the city and a search was started. Authorities in other cities, were requested to watch for the pair.

An automobile reported by Police Chief T. W. Thompson to answer the description of that stolen from Harris was found abandoned near Columbiana this morning. A member of the Salem force will inspect it this afternoon.

Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Harris, 1007 East State st.

REELECT SALEM CITY HOSPITAL'S BOARD OFFICERS

Five Trustees Are Chosen At Annual Meeting Monday Night

HAWLEY ELECTED PRESIDENT AGAIN

Miss Esther Wilson, New Superintendent, Submits Report

Five trustees whose terms expired this year were re-elected to three-year terms at the annual meeting of the Salem city hospital association Monday night at the nurses home.

These trustees are: C. S. Carr, F. R. Pow, J. C. Boone, Clifton Reeves and Mrs. L. B. Harris. A vacancy on the board of trustees, caused by the resignation of Miss Alice MacMillan a short time ago, will be filled by the board.

Officers Re-elected
Following the association meeting, the board re-organized for the year by electing these officers: President, R. W. Hawley; vice president, C. A. Cavanaugh; secretary, J. A. Probert; treasurer, F. R. Pow.

All were re-elected with the exception of Mr. Cavanaugh, the vice presidency having been vacant during the last year. J. C. Boone was re-elected to the honorary position of chairman of the board.

The board of trustees includes the following: L. P. Metzger, R. F. Benzinger, Clifton Reeves, F. R. Pow, R. W. Hawley, C. S. Carr, C. A. Cavanaugh, J. C. Boone, J. A. Probert, Mrs. L. B. Harris, Mrs. Burt Leeper, Mrs. H. H. Sharp, Mrs. Myra B. Woodruff and Mrs. P. T. Miles.

Miss Esther Wilson, who has been superintendent since last summer, gave the annual report of the operation of the institution. Since Miss Wilson assumed charge, there has been a great improvement in the operation of the hospital and as a result more people are making use of its facilities. In December the average number of patients a day was 32.

Improvements Made
While many economies have been made in operating costs the last few months, necessary improvements have not been neglected. A new lamp for the operating room has been purchased and plans are being made for a new operating table. During the year W. H. Mullins donated a large addition to the Hannah E. Mullins home for nurses where 20 student nurses are in training.

The trustees expressed their appreciation for the entertainment provided by carol singers during the holiday season and for the lighting donated by the Ohio Edison company.

BAN LUMP SUMS IN NEW REGIME

Governor White And Senate Break Down Appropriation Bill

COLUMBUS, Jan. 13.—The death knell for "lump sum" appropriations by the legislature was sounded today, when the senate finance committee in mutual agreement with Governor White, decided to break down the emergency appropriation bill into more specific designations.

As a result, passage of the emergency measures will be held up for several days until the bill is almost completely rewritten and state employees will not get their salaries until several days after they are due, Jan. 15. All other state expenditures will be tied up also until the bill is passed. It carries approximately $24,600,000 as introduced, but the committee decided to cut out many appropriations which were not considered of emergency nature.

10 Million-Dollar Drouth Fund Is Asked By President

Minimum Sum Is Urged By Hoover In Appeal To Nation; Demand Heavy On Red Cross In Last Four Weeks

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Hoover today called upon the people to contribute a "minimum of $10,000,000" for the relief of drouth sufferers.

It was in a formal proclamation. "I am sure that the American people will respond to the Red Cross appeal both promptly and generously," he said.

The demands of the disaster funds of the Red Cross, Mr. Hoover said, have been far greater in the last four weeks than during the previous four months. This brought about the necessity for a material increase in resources.

In some parts of the stricken areas, the chief executive said, small communities have been affected both by the drouth and general business depression.

The Red Cross has been called upon to take care of sufferers in these communities as well as in purely rural sections.

The additional $10,000,000 asked combined with what is left of the $5,000,000 set aside by the Red Cross sometime ago appears to President Hoover to be sufficient to meet the demands.

Unless the $10,000,000 is raised, Mr. Hoover said many persons in the country will lack necessities of life.

WHITE APPEALS FOR IMMEDIATE AID FOR NEEDY

New Taxation System Is Urged In Address To Assembly

CHIEF OUTLINES ECONOMY PROGRAM

Proposes To Reduce Administration Costs To Minimum

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13.—Immediate relief for the unemployed and enactment of a new taxation system were called for by Governor George White in his initial message to the Ohio General Assembly today.

Asserting these to be the most pressing needs for legislation at this time, the new governor confined his recommendations to these subjects. He said he would address the law makers on other subjects as soon as he has had time to get his bearings on needs of the state.

Urges Appropriation
Because of the acuteness of unemployment, aggravated by results of the drought, Governor White urged an immediate appropriation of state funds to relieve the situation.

"I recommend, therefore, that the General Assembly without delay appropriate a reasonable sum to be used wherever distress is most acute—the expenditure to be surrounded by proper safeguards. Such an appropriation should be limited to the year 1931 and be confined to the sole purpose of emergency relief. Future contingencies may be met later, if necessary," he said.

Placing responsibility for enactment of a wise taxation code directly upon the shoulders of the legislators in accordance with constitutional dictates, White told them that laws must provide that bear a greater burden.

"I am opposed to the substitution of income or sales taxes by other subterfuge to keep the burden of the tax burden on the backs of the farm and home owners," he said.

UNION LABEL

SIMPLICITY, VIGOR, SOUNDNESS

Governor White is off to a fine start. The vigor that has characterized him throughout a colorful career, and which he displayed to excellent advantage in his inaugural address Monday, will be an invaluable asset to him in his new capacity.The salient points in his inaugural address are in themselves, eloquent comment on the governor's character.People make government good or bad by the extent of their participation, he reasons. Defects in governmental processes are due, therefore, to indifference. Indifference is encouraged by over-centralization of government, a present tendency that should be checked. Local self-government should be encouraged.Ohio's taxation system is to be changed. The remodeling should be done in such a way as to shift some of the burden off the farmer and home owner to holders of in-tangible property. The new taxation legislation, unless it affords reasonable satisfaction to all concerned, should be submitted to the people for a decision.The initiative and referendum should be protected, and further use of them encouraged.Ohio's correctional and penal institutions must be improved, with an eye to their future uses. Some of the financial burden should be borne by generations yet to come, since they will get a goodly share of the benefit.Governor White pledges himself to conduct an economical administration and asks legislative support to that end. He further pledges himself to right present adverse conditions, as far as lies within his power, and to rid the state of its governmental ills. He goes further than the direct mandates of the state constitution, promising to perform also "the higher duty devolving upon one who solemnly swears to support and defend it."The address, considered as a whole, is pleasing in every respect.
It is characterized by simplicity, vigor, soundness and endearing evidences of close kinship with the people. In itself, perhaps, it is not unusual; vivified by the character and reputation of George White it becomes so, however. Its greatest value is in the fact that its sincerity is attested by the character of the man who penned it and delivered it.
Governor White starts his first term as governor of Ohio with the advantage of strong support.

AN ATTEMPTED INVASION

President Hoover and the senate had clashed before but never so hard that a deadlock was formed until last Saturday when Mr. Hoover refused to return to the senate the confirmation certificates of three federal power commissioners. Opinion from informed quarters in Washington holds that an impasse has been reached; that the commissioners will continue to serve; and that neither the president nor the senate will be able to do anything further until the matter is adjusted.Two methods are apparent. The senate could refuse to vote salaries for the commissioners on the grounds they are not legally in office. The members then would sue and bring the dispute to judgment.
Or a litigant before the commission could assume it is not legally in office and accomplish the same result.Most people, however, are interested less in the legal aspects of the dispute than the political aspects. They are inclined toward the attitude of Will Rogers, who regards the affair as another idea "to put the big boss Herbie on the spot." The weight of evidence tends to show Mr. Rogers is right.It is not wise to overlook the legal significance, however. Stated rough-ly, the question is: can the senate, after confirming appointees named by the president, after notifying the president that confirmation has been made, after the president has issued commissions to the appointees, have taken the oath of office and after the appointees have exercised their official functions—can the senate demand that the president return the names to it and reverse or otherwise act upon the confirmations previously given? It is an issue that has been alive since the beginning of government; an issue lying in constitutional no-man's land. How much power has the senate over the tenure of holders of office appointed by the president?Mr. Hoover says, "I cannot admit the power in the senate to encroach upon the executive functions by removal of a duly appointed executive officer under the guise of reconsideration of the nomination."Some senators believe that the senate should hold absolute control, presumably. In the case of the three power board commissioners these senators, backed by a conspicuous majority, have tried to exercise the control after a few days. If the president should be defeated in his stand the time would be extended indefinitely. A president could do virtually nothing, therefore, without cooperation in the senate—an unheard of phenomenon.It is for that reason, among others, that Mr. Hoover should be upheld in his denunciations of the senate's attempt to usurp his power.
For the president to yield would be to weaken the principle under which the government is divided into three branches—executive, legislative and judicial.Certain beliefs held by the three power commissioners are repugnant to certain liberal senators. They had their opportunity, however, to learn of those beliefs beforehand. If they were too bored by one of Senator Heflin's orations to pay attention to business they hardly can claim their oversight as an excuse to invade the president's powers.
The public is far from convinced that its best interests are being protected by this most recent exhibition of malicious pettiness paraded under the strangely mixed colors of the power issue, politics and parliamentary procedure.

What Others Say

HYSTERIA OR POLITICS?

Governor Harvey Parnell, the Democratic governor of Arkansas, and Dr. John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, have taken issue with the Arkansas senators over the measure of suffering in the state due to the drought.
Instead of backing up the contention of the senators that the federal government should appropriate $15,000,000 more money than was authorized in the drought relief measure put through before Christmas and that provision should be made for the use of this fund to buy food for the people of the drought-stricken sections, these officials say that the situation in Arkansas is not as bad as has been portrayed and that it is being well handled.The American people in the past have met periods of depression, with millions of persons out of work and situations of distress due to drought and flood, through private contribution and the aid of the American Red Cross. That has been the Arkansas method, instead of calling upon the federal government to spend money to provide food. If the government of Arkansas is to be credited—and there is every reason to suppose that the governor of a state should be well informed and solicitous for the welfare of the people—the situation is being handled adequately today in that state by the usual American method.Despite the evidence given by John Barton Payne before the senate appropriations committee, indicating that the Red Cross is able to deal with the situation aided by the civic spirit in the cities where funds are being raised, threats are made by some of the senators to "filibuster" if the house does not agree to the $15,000,000 increase in the drought relief bill, which under the terms of the senate amendment, would be available for the purchase of food for the needy.When the congress put through the drought relief bill before it went away for a two-weeks' Christmas holiday, it was announced by the leaders that congress would not think of taking a vacation unless the relief bills were enacted. Apparently, the drought relief so earnestly sought is, after all, to be held up indefinitely if the senate filibuster is carried out. The demand for speed in measures to relieve suffering due to the drought is to be abandoned. The old fight of those members of the senate who take issue with the administration over its relief plans is to be renewed, with no prospect of a nearly conclusion.

"Shut-in" in Winter

It is a pleasure to find on sale today an occasional book that goes right to the heart. My friend Harry Hersfield has just published his "Super City," a brilliant novel, a gripping tale of human interest.
But more than this, the book is rich in philosophi-cal moments.
In my reading I lingered over a trifling incident, unimportant in
the plot, but it contains a hint
worth observing.
Three friends had just finished a heavy lunch in spite of good October weather,
balm and bright,
they lolled in their chairs with the club windows tightly closed.The author commented: "It is surprising how rich men, who engage in the expensive outdoor sports of golfing, polo and tennis, take advantage of unhealthy, snug comfort whenever they can."
It is, indeed, surprising that men who profess to love the out-of-doors will submit to the vile air found in many of their indoor haunts. Clubs, offices, lodge rooms, even dining rooms, are frequently stifling. The atmosphere is polluted and the simplest hygiene rules of right living are utterly disregarded. Why is it?If golf is a pose and other outdoor sports are merely games to please grown-up boys, let us confess the truth. But if we indulge in these things, even partly for health's sake, let us not end our health pursuit when we go indoors.
Let us see to it that the inside places are decent places in which to live.
Persons who are undernourished have thin blood. The circulation is poor, and even slight exposure may bring a chill. Nothing overcomes this sensitiveness as quickly as proper feeding and habitual ex-posure of the skin to sunlight.
If your duties are such that during the winter season you are denied the advantages of regular exercise out-of-doors, there must be found a substitute for sunlight. In this connection, talk with your doctor about the ultra-violet lamps. A few minutes' exposure to their rays will do almost as much good as several hours in the sunshine. They will build up in your skin a resistance to heat and cold.Try to make this an exceptional winter. Give the same thought to your indoor living that you give to your expensive outdoor sports.
There can be no doubt that the average individual declines in vigor during the cold weather. This is not necessary if thought is given to the problem. You can govern your life, if you will, so that Spring time will find you fit and fine.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, Jan. 14

A very lively and animated state of affairs, both business and private, is presaged from the governing lunar and mutual configurations. Under a strong Martian impetus there may be a great spur to initiative and brave ambitions; but in entirely new undertakings it might be well to be on the alert against fraud, treachery or subtle tactics. Proceed with caution, safeguard the employment and be wise in the handling of funds. Personal affairs flourish.Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of much initiative and bold adventure, with the facilities, energies and ambitions under high stimulus. But in new ventures it would be well to be on guard against treachery and misrepresentation, and manage the finances with conservatism and discretion. Safeguard employment.
Domestic, affectional and social affiliations may offer much happiness, and diversion. Friendships prove profitably. A child born on this day may have many sturdy and executive talents and may be resourceful, aggressive and ambitious. Its social and domestic qualities may bring such happiness.

AID FOR NEEDY WHITE'S APPEAL

The wage and average salary earners until an honest effort has been made to secure the necessary revenues from other sources," the governor said.

"One Available Source—Capital" Declaring that taxes must be procured from sources able to pay them, he said that in view of the rate limitation of 15 mills on real estate "there remains only one available source from which these necessary revenues may be maintained, namely, capital."

Calling attention to the assurance given by proponents of the classification tax amendment which became operative last January 1 and on which all new tax laws must be based, that real estate would be relieved of "the undue burden of taxation" which it has borne under the uniform rule, the governor said it rests with the legislature to see that intangible wealth, estimated at more than $16,000,000,000 be placed on the tax duplicate and made to pay a just portion of the taxes. Of the present $13,600,000 tax duplicate in the state, he said only $600,000,000 represented this intangible wealth, the $13,000,000,000 representing real estate.

Plans Retrenchment

Urging economies in the greatest extent, necessitated by anticipated decrease in tax paying ability because of the economic depression, and anticipated reduction of 20 per cent in real estate valuations, the governor said he was ready to start retrenchment in state expenditures. "So far as the state government is concerned, that is to say the departments under my control, I assert frankly that it is my purpose to reduce the cost of administration to a minimum consistent with good public policy. The most essential activities will be carried on first."

UNITED WE STAND

A firm has its slogan. It even advertises for such and offers prizes for those giving the best word. An industry has its slogan. So has an age. So has a year. The year 1931 has already named the slogan for itself. It occurs in speech after speech from statesmen, in sentence after sentence in newspaper columns, on magazine pages. The words have been hammered out during the just-gone year. They are "United We Stand." Economic, industrial, as well as political affairs, have linked the world together—so obvious a statement that wording it savors of the bromide.

But the lesson of the breakfast table, with oranges from one part of the globe, coffee from another, sugar from a different region and bread made with good wheat from still another—to take a simple morning board—has at last struck home. Also the fact that the political safety of one division of a hemisphere depends upon the political safety of the other divisions. How anxiously the safety of the Balkans are watched. Trouble in one would send the others tumbling like a rocked house of cards. What heart-deep attention is focused on Austria, Germany, Poland, all the other divisions of mid-Europe! How England tries to link more firmly together her far-flung empire!

And how the states of the United States must keep shoulder to shoulder to meet the various questions of tariff, child labor, taxation, etc., if 1931 is to be a year of real progress! All this for 1931. For the world is now linked, country to country. United it stands in its present civilization. And there is that warning phrase which always follows: "Divided We Fall." Thinkers of world history emphasize this even above the first phrase "United We Stand." Eras of civilization are pointed out, their rise and their fall. Should we fail to understand how to stand united, then fall we shall, and must, and our civilization be swept from the earth.

What the next civilization would be, how slow in formation, in what black chaos the world would be plunged to mind dares to forecast. Certainly not so long as there is chance of development, of standing together in this. Certainly, too, that problem of so standing and of going forward is now in the world's hands, this world of 1931. Basic economic problems draw us together as one to work out answers to human wants and needs in every part of the world. Industrial questions must be solved in relation to all peoples.

The lines along which these solutions must be worked out are being straitened, also firm foundations have been laid. The Kellogg Peace Pact forbids that difficulties should be solved by war. The World Court waits to adjust troublesome questions between nations. Different commercial treaties, treaties of arbitration, just now the awaited Pan-American treaty—these point that way in which we should stand stronger and stronger through cooperation, sympathy, understanding, ability to live and work together.

This is in the hands of those working for the New Year. It stands with a warning, "Divided We Fall."

But the slogan for 1931 is "United We Stand."

SHOOTS WOMAN, KILLS HIMSELF

Chief Of Chilean Hygiene Wields Gun; Love Pact Hinted

(By Associated Press)
SALAM, Jan. 13.—The tragic deaths of Dr. Cora Mayer, Chile's leading woman physician, and Dr. Alfredo De Maria, government hygiene chief, puzzled authorities today. Dr. Mayer shot Dr. Mayer and himself.

Attendants at the public nurses' school where the shooting took place, declared the two had been in love and advanced the theory that separated by Dr. De Maria's marriage to another woman, they had determined to die together. Dr. Mayer was 35 and unmarried.

Others believe that the crime was motivated by a professional jealousy for which death of both seemed the only solution.

School attendants said Dr. De Maria walked into the office of Dr. Mayer, who was chief of the school, and engaged in long conversation with her. Two shots rang out. Attendants rushed to find both dead.

Dr. De Maria apparently had placed a pistol at Dr. Mayer's forehead and then turned the gun on himself.

Both were natives of Chile. She was of German extraction and he of Italian.

AKRON, O., Jan. 13.—Seventy-five witnesses will be called to testify in behalf of Marshall W. Cornell, 48, paperhanger charged with first degree murder of Clarence R. Barnes, Akron salesman, defense attorneys said today.

Cornell, who lived in the other half of Barnes' duplex home, is alleged to have planted the dynamite which exploded in Barnes' automobile and killed him last September. The grand jury refused to indict Mrs. Barnes and she will be one of the defense witnesses.

CHIMNEY IS NO PLACE TO HIDE JONES DECIDES

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—There was entirely too much heat in the chimney hole in which Charles Benjamin Jones, a Negro, got bunkered last night.

Crawls Into Chimney
He got there by a series of mistakes. The first was the fact that he and his companion, Mitchell Hamilton, attempted to hold up two men who turned out to be Detectives Edward Hazzard and Kenneth Ebey. The next was that he removed his clothing at his home after he had fled from the detectives and before he crawled into the top of the chimney.

His intention was to hold onto the top with his hands, but the bricks were so hot he had to let go and started to slide down toward the basement, where a red hot fire was burning in the furnace. Between the third and second floors, the chimney makes a couple of right and left turns, wedging him firmly in his uncomfortable position.

"Help" came a faint cry from the chimney. It was heard by the detectives who by this time were on the roof looking for Mr. Jones.

"O. K." said one of the officers.

Mr. Jones Blistered
"Hurry," said Mr. Jones, "it's blistering down here. Have them put out that fire."

Ebey did. The fire department cut a section two feet wide from the side of the building and extracted Jones, who vowed he would never go in for chimneys again, was wrapped in a blanket, taken to a hospital, given some first aid, and then to a police station.

BELLE OF WIT AND BONHOMIE IN BAD AGAIN

Miss Livingstone Fences With Law After Midnight Raid

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Captured in red pajamas on the roof of her saloon of "culture, wit and bonhomie," Miss Belle Livingstone fenced with the law today for the fourth time in recent months.

At the crack of midnight, two federal prohibition agents dressed in evening clothes and wearing pink carnations, arose from the table at which they sat with two fashionably gowned women and announced the place was in the hands of the government. It is just off Park avenue in the midtown section.

And Raid Was On

Their words had hardly faded away when eight more agents, similarly attired, burst through the main entrance and the raid was on. More than a hundred guests from the circles of the literati were ordered to leave, eight employees, including a young woman, secretary, were arrested, and a certain amount of liquor was seized.

While this was going on, Miss Livingstone, warned of the raid by a secret alarm in her fourth floor apartment, hastily threw a cape over her night attire and climbed through a trap door to the roof, apparently with the idea of escaping down the stairway of an adjoining building. One of the raiders overtook her and escorted her to the saloon via the street.

Does "Prison Clothes"

Changing to what she called her "prison clothes," Miss Livingstone and her employees were taken to a police station. The former actress, clutching a pink carnation in her hand, greeted the police lieutenant with:

"Good morning, this is getting to be old-fashioned now."

Miss Livingstone is at liberty under bail on two charges of violating the prohibition law as a result of three previous raids. Two of her clubs were padlocked and the present one was visited by federal agents as recently as December 4.

ing about not far from him." The fact that many have threatened to kill Capone, although not to his face, makes him interesting.

When Mrs. Patterson said: "I am Joe Patterson's sister," Mr. Capone said: "Come right in and sit down."

To tell a Chicagoan that you are Joe Patterson's sister is like telling a Parisian that you are the sister of the Eiffel tower.

Mr. Capone led the way to his beautiful residence, the six athletic young men keeping unobtrusively close by.

Even ladies have been known to shoot, although the distinguished young editor of the Washington Herald had no shooting thoughts. She was interested in studying a man of power.

"And," says Mrs. Patterson: "Capone has great power. His hands are extraordinarily powerful. The muscles stand out under his tightly fitting clothes. He is only 32 years of age. His neck seems strong enough to hold the weight of 10 men and," (pointing to a photograph of the marvelous equestrian statue of Colonnelli, the great Venetian condottiere) "he has a face as powerful as that. I should not wonder if he were Colonnelli come back again, transferred by fate from northern Italy to the shores of Lake Michigan."

"His eyes are two narrow slits, pale gray, and when he complains of harsh treatment undeserved, there is a look in them that might change the minds of those who talk about putting Capone on the spot. I should not like to be near the spot at the psychological moment."

Mrs. Patterson should write at length of her interesting visit to the most powerful man in a new industry.

It would be as interesting as an authentic description of a talk with the Minotaur. Capone was born in New York, by the way. When Mrs. Patterson said, pointing to an airplane high up: "Are you not afraid they might drop a bomb?" Capone, (who pronounces it "like corn") shrugged his wide shoulders and answered, "well, one way or another."

Farmers of Saskatchewan have formulated a "charter of liberty." They threaten "a cooperative commonwealth within the British Empire." That has a Russian sound.

They demand a basic price for wheat to cover the cost of production, retroactive to the first of last August. That sounds like Uncle Sam.

They would abolish grain exchanges and all speculation in farm products. And they would have the government crop insurance, "guaranteeing all farmers' production against all natural risks." That sounds like heaven.

Also the farmers ask an arrangement that would regulate the cost of things bought by farmers to fit the selling price of commodities that he produces.

Yesterday, Detroit, after a period of hibernation, showed signs of life at full speed. Tens of thousands of additional men went to work. Seventy-five thousand started at the Ford River Rouge plant.

Chevrolet promises 30,000 steady jobs through the winter. Dodge, Hudson, Lincoln, Buick, Cadillac and Chrysler are all increasing inventory.

Youngstown East, New Philly Meet Salem Cagers This Week

THE DAY In Sports

CAGE DEVELOPMENTS
MANY STRONG TEAMS

The basketball season is bringing many outstanding developments in the field of Northeastern Ohio district competition, principal among which events is probably the countless number of strong cage aggregations which the 1930-31 campaign is bringing to the fore. Where at the start of the season Canton McKinley, Akron East and Akron North were rated as the best in the district, developments have been such that strong cage outfits will probably number about 23 this season.

Salem is battling its way toward rating as one of the district's leading teams, Campbell Memorial, Steubenville, Alliance, Akron North, Canton McKinley, Akron East, all being rated above the Quakers today. Except for its victory over Massillon and its hard-fought games with Akron East and McKinley, the Red and Black varsity has not as yet displayed its greatest strength which is expected to pull it through the season's campaign with more than average success.

The season is still young and the Quakers have plenty of time yet. On a comparison of scores the team rates well with others of its class, but the countless number of extraordinarily strong aggregations in the district this year make the outlook really gloomy. The team may pull through with the Northeastern Ohio league championship, if that means anything, but then, from present indications, Salem, East Liverpool and Wellsville are as strong as any team in this circuit with the possible exception of Alliance.

The Quaker reserves have advanced into the limelight through their run of six consecutive victories and to date have outscored their opponents better than two to one. They have amassed a total of 201 points to 93 by the six opponents.

In defeating Niles and Lisbon the Quaker varsity passed its opponents in scoring and has registered 217 games in seven games to 197 by the opposition. The girls' team, with one victory and the same number of defeats, has scored 32 to 46 by opponents.

COLUMBIANA

The second of a series of all high school parties was held Saturday evening in the school auditorium. Members of the board of education, and their families, were guests, along with members of the high school faculty and pupils. The program and entertainment was provided by the members of the Junior and Sophomore classes, the refreshments by the Seniors, and the decorating was done by the Freshmen. Games and contests were enjoyed, followed by dancing.

The quarterly communion of Grace Reformed church was observed Sunday at both morning and evening services. Elders Ralph Hum and Ralph Spenseller will represent the church at the meeting of Eastern Ohio classes at Canton, February 2.

Missionary Gives Address.
Miss Edith Berchold, former missionary to India, gave an interesting address Sunday evening at the Christian church, showing pictures illustrating customs in that country. Mrs. Anna Pike, Canton, visited Saturday with relatives in Columbiana.

Mrs. Jennie Snyder, Warren, is spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Vollmole, W. Park avenue.

Mrs. Jacob Zimmer is reported ill at her home, Vine St.

Jerry Shontz is recovering after an illness of several weeks.

Catherine, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Vollmole, W. Park Ave., has recently located a brother and sister, with whom she has not communicated for 12 years. A brother John lives at Milford, Ohio, while a sister, Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, is located in Cincinnati. Another brother, Charles, has not yet been located.

Attend Funeral.
Among those from out-of-town attending the funeral of Mrs. Caroline Rohrbach Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rohrbach, Warrensville, Ill.; Rev. and Mrs. Scott Rohrbach, Pennsylvania; Rev. and Mrs. Charles Rohrbach, New Castle, Pa.; Mrs. Effie Allsop, Columbus; Mrs. Curtis Auer and daughter, Margaret, Alliance; Mrs. Jennie Snyder, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Troll, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rudge, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rohrbach, Harry Baird and son, and Miss Lily Rohrbach, Youngstown; Rev. L. J. Rohrbach, North Lima; Rev. H. J. Brilhart, Mrs. Alice Greenhamer, Mrs. T. B. Cope, Mrs. Austin Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. Stelvin Blosser and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Horst, Leontonia; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stouffer, Washingtonville.

Past Week Brings Out Many Developments In District Cage Events

Entering the sixth week of the 1930-31 basketball season, Salem high's cage artists, with a string of three consecutive victories to their credit, battle Youngstown East and New Philadelphia scholastic court aggregations on Friday and Saturday, respectively, this week. East High, rated as one of the leaders in Mahoning Valley cage activities, is played here while the Quakers trek to the Tuscarawas county city for their annual engagement with the Philly tossers.

The past week brought out numerous outstanding developments in district basketball activities, among them the fact that Lisbon High this year has one of its strongest cage outfits in years and ten, the abrupt advance of Wellsville High school's basketers into regularity with their overtime victory over the fast-stepping East Liverpool team.

Big Ten Events.
In Big Ten league events, a race which involves the Quakers with nine other Northeastern Ohio schools, the 30-13 annihilation of Ravenna by Alliance was the principal event of the week.

Wellsville and Salem now have equal shares on the top of the Columbiana county league ladder, both having trimmed East Liverpool. The fourth member of the county's "Big Four", East Palestine, has yet to play its first county game of importance and failed to impress in just narrowly missing out Columbus' weak quintet, 13-11 last Friday. Wellsville and the Quakers will not clash until Feb. 13 then meet again at Wellsville on Feb. 21.

Between those two games the Salem varsity plays its other main county antagonists, East Palestine, on Jan. 23, also on a foreign court.

Salem In Second Place.
Salem's easy victory over Niles placed the Quakers in a tie for second place with Dover and Massillon. Each has two victories against one defeat while Alliance, conceding the upper hand in the league fight, is still on top with two wins and no setbacks.

Massillon might easily be termed the "mystery team" of the circuit. After playing poorly against Salem, the Stark countians suddenly flashed a world of strength, wallowed a hitherto undefeated Akron Central team last Friday, and Saturday brought Dover from its tie for the district league leadership with Alliance, to share second place with Salem. Massillon, trimmed Dover, 19-14. The night before, New Philadelphia fell before Dover 17-16.

Youngstown East, Salem's Friday night opponents here, have split even in two games played, losing a tough decision to Girard on Friday or last week then turned the tables on Struthers Saturday by a 23-20 score. New Philly's record isn't at all impressive, its game against Dover being the best turned out so far. Denison is the only team to lose to the Philie, while Massillon, Dover and an alumni team hold verdicts against the Tuscarawas countians.

Glancing over more of the activities last week, it is interesting to note that the Mahoning Valley has a team that is destined to rate high in district competition this year. This is no other than Campbell Memorial, a team of more or less average strength in past years but which lapped North High of Akron, 29-23, Friday night. It was North's first defeat in six starts. Steubenville also advanced into the limelight by trimming Alliance, 22-20, on the latter's home court, marking the Stubbers' fourth consecutive victory and Alliance's second defeat in seven games.

Just after Memorial handed North its initial lacing came what is undoubtedly one of the season's big upsets, Coach Perry Van Hining's East Palestine tossers handing Campbell's quintet a 19-16 setback Saturday night. In that North defeated Alliance, Campbell trimmed North and then Palestine best Campbell, the dope holds that the Van Hining combination will be one that is to threaten other county cagers for the 1931 championship.

Attend Funeral.
Among those from out-of-town attending the funeral of Mrs. Caroline Rohrbach Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rohrbach, Warrensville, Ill.; Rev. and Mrs. Scott Rohrbach, Pennsylvania; Rev. and Mrs. Charles Rohrbach, New Castle, Pa.; Mrs. Effie Allsop, Columbus; Mrs. Curtis Auer and daughter, Margaret, Alliance; Mrs. Jennie Snyder, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Troll, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rudge, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rohrbach, Harry Baird and son, and Miss Lily Rohrbach, Youngstown; Rev. L. J. Rohrbach, North Lima; Rev. H. J. Brilhart, Mrs. Alice Greenhamer, Mrs. T. B. Cope, Mrs. Austin Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. Stelvin Blosser and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Horst, Leontonia; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stouffer, Washingtonville.

Hard Luck Haunts Chicago Battler

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. — The trials and tribulations of Pete Wistort, young Chicago heavyweight continue. About a year ago Wistort saved $9 from a stickup man by slamming the fellow on the jaw, but he fractured his right hand and was unable to pursue his trade for nine months. Last night in a bout with Andy Shanks of Grand Rapids, Mich., Pete launched a murderous right swing, missed, and fell on his face. The fall caused him to suffer a fracture of the right shoulder and Shank was awarded a technical knockout victory.

PITT STAR BACK FOR BIG BATTLE

Brilliant Sophomore Guard Slated To Return Into Lineup Against Fordham, West Virginia Fives

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Don Smith, brilliant sophomore guard of the Pitt Panther basketball team who was injured during the holidays, is reported in shape to return to the lineup against Fordham in the game here Thursday night.

Dr. H. C. Carlson, Pitt coach, didn't use Smith against New York University although he was on the floor and ready to play, preferring to save him for the two important home games this week.

If Smith returns to the lineup against Fordham it will release Willie Kowallis from guard duty and he can resume his work at forward which would give Pitt its original lineup of Kowallis and Lawry at forwards, Smith and Captain Arthur at guards and Albright, center.

This is the lineup that is likely to face both Fordham and West Virginia this week.

Travels With Father.
CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Lou Barbour, Jr., will travel under the eye of his father, Lou Barbour, traveling secretary of the White Sox next summer—if he shows qualifications for a major league pitcher. Manager Donie Bush has signed the youngster, a southpaw, for a trial with the Sox.

INDIANA TRIMS OHIO STATERS

Buckeyes Lost First Cage Decision To Hoosiers; Northwestern Wins

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Just a little more than a week old, the Western conference basketball race today was well scrambled with Northwestern in first place. Wisconsin and Purdue, usually fighting for the lead, were one jump out of the collar.

Northwestern accounted for its second straight triumph last night, defeating Illinois 29 to 27 after a rousing battle in which 35 personal fouls were called. The defeat just about sounded taps for Illinois' hopes, it being the third straight setback.

Michigan was expected to defeat Wisconsin, and did it by a 23 to 17 score, but no one figures Iowa to take Purdue. The Hawkeyes, however, got out in front early in the contest and had enough left to stave off a desperate Boilemaker rally at the finish. The defeat was Purdue's second in three games.

Led by Norm Daniels, the only big man on the team, Michigan paced Wisconsin from start to finish, finding difficulty only at the finish when Ted Chmielewski broke loose for two field goals. Michigan moved into third place with two victories and one defeat, while the Badgers dropped down to a tie with Purdue.

Indiana came back to life and gave Ohio State its first beating of the season, another of those two-point affairs, 32 to 21. The Buckeyes were superior from the floor, but Indiana crashed in on nine of its charity shot attempts to win. Both teams have won one and lost one.

Reserve Meets Tech.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 13.—Eager to avenge a 26 to 22 setback that they most unexpectedly suffered at the hands of Carnegie Tech in Cleveland a little more than a week ago, Western Reserve's Basketball team plays a return engagement with the Tartans in the Skibo's gymnasium here Wednesday. The best battle of the young season is anticipated, and a packed house is certain.

STRIBLING ASKED TO SIGN FOR SERIES OF HEAVYWEIGHT TILTS

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The complex heavyweight situation has reached the point where the fighters are being asked to sign not for one bout but for three.

The plight of Young Bill Stribling, Macon, Ga., contender might be taken as an example. Young Bill's father-manager, "Pa" Stribling, was all set to sign Bill to a title match with Max Schmeling in June.

Plan Future Bout.
Now they are asking him to agree to two more battles in event that Stribling relieves Schmeling of the championship. They want Bill first to meet Primo Carnera in September, "they" being the Hearst milk fund officials. Then they would have Stribling agree to fight again in 1932 against the best available opponent for the milk fund alone.

Under the terms of this three-edged proposal, Stribling would post $25,000 of his 12½ per cent cut in the Schmeling-Stribling gate as a forfeit for the match with Carnera.

Considers Offer.
"Pa" Stribling took this offering under advisement although it was plain he was not particularly pleased with it.

Yesterday's conferences were between the milk fund promoters, representatives of Stribling and Schmeling and Bill Duffy, American manager of Carnera. Bill Carey was not there for a New York commission order forbids, under pain of suspension, any promoter to negotiate with a suspended fighter.

Carnera has been under suspension here since his unsatisfactory bout with Leon Chevalier in California last year, and Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs, were placed under the ban last week when the commission vacated "Der Maxie's" crown because he failed to agree immediately to a title bout with Jack Sharkey.

FIRE INSURANCE THE BULWARK OF TRADE

THE volume of trade in the United States is estimated at more than 80 billion dollars annually. Probably 90 percent of this is transacted on credit.

The underlying safeguard of credit is Stock Fire Insurance, with more than 150 billions of dollars constantly at risk in the protection of property in this country against fire losses, with an almost equal amount covering hail, windstorm, earthquake and other hazards.

This background of protection against disaster makes commerce on its present gigantic scale possible.

The Silent Partner of Everyone

Few indeed are the activities of the home or of business that are not benefited directly or indirectly by the stabilizing effect of Stock Fire Insurance and the security that it affords.

Stock Fire Insurance is the silent partner in every enterprise—the Bulwark of Trade. It has rendered its service at a cost which on the average has constantly declined for many years.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has also contributed in many ways to the greater safety of life and property. Its sponsors believe that the foremost gain to any individual or community lies in preventing those losses which no amount of insurance can cover.

MOVIES

Billy Vernon's "Black and White Revue", composed of 18 actors and actresses, including a dance orchestra, will appear at the Grand theater Wednesday night. The revue includes a series of dance and novelty acts with a group of clever singers.

"ANYBODY'S WOMAN"

The embattled lovers who storm their way through "The Laughing Lady" and "Charming Sinners" will be seen again in another dramatic picture at the Grand theater tonight.

Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook in another fascinating tangle—ones which is said to contain an even greater amount of dramatic and romantic punch than the two earlier successes of these capable favorites.

The picture is "Anybody's Woman." It is the story of the vagrancies of a misfit marriage. Brook is seen as the prosperous young lawyer, who indulges in a prolonged orgy after his wife divorces him to marry another man. One morning, after a night of insensate drunkenness, he wakes to find that he has been married to Ruth Chatterton, an unreformed, tawdry, down-at-the-heels actress.

His friends forsake him after he "straightens out," and begins again his respectable pursuit of business. Ruth sees him losing his prestige and decides that she will leave him for the sake of his standing in society. She goes away, although she loves him more than anything else in the world. He carries on without her, but before long discovers that there is an emptiness in life that can only be filled by this woman. After a series of dramatic episodes they are brought together again for a finale that is pleasing to all.

"FOR THE LOVE O' LIL"

Sandy and Lil, hero and heroine of J. Leslie Thrasher's famous cover series and story, are destined to become as popular with motion picture audiences as they are with the reading public. The two made their screen debut last night at the State Theatre in "For The Love O' Lil." The dialogue of the picture, strictly in keeping with the characterizations, is scintillating and humorous situations galore add to the general hilarity.

The trouble all starts when Wyn Huntley, Sandy's rival for Lil's affections, refuses to be relegated to the background. Wyn not only monopolizes Lil, but tries to pair Sandy off with Eleanor Cartwright, an adventures and ex-chorus girl.

The manner in which the reconciliation is brought about is one of the most amusing features of the story. Elliott Nugent gives an impersonation of Sandy that carries out Thrasher's conception perfectly. This actor has just the right amount of humor and plausibility in his make-up to render the illusion ideal. Sally Starr invests Lil with engaging charm. Margaret Livingston scores in the role of Eleanor Cartwright, the sophisticated chorus girl, and Jack Mulhall has an important role as Wyn.
